Where does time go?

I am a proud Pops, and like so many of you, I just “happen to have” a precious picture of our first grandbaby, sweet Caroline. Pictures for me can bring a mixture of emotions from joy and happiness to disbelief and sadness as I marvel at how fast time really does go. Caroline will be a year old December 6, and it truly seems like just a few weeks ago that she was born. I take Fridays off now, and Friday mornings are reserved exclusively for one-on-one bonding time between Caroline and Pops. We make special memories as we share Eskimo kisses, swing on the porch, play with toys, read books, sing, and discover the wonderful world Jesus has created all around us.

I also think a lot about how I want Caroline, my family, friends, and those who know me to remember me when one day I am in Heaven with my Savior. I truly believe that every word of the Bible is God inspired and truth. I am encouraged by Exodus 20:5, 6 that says, “for I, the Lord your God, am a jealous God, punishing the children for the sin of the parents to the third and fourth generation of those who hate me, but showing love to a thousand generations of those who love me and keep my commandments.” This scripture tells me that if I love the Lord and keep His commands, my family for a thousand generations will also love the Lord and be shown love, grace, mercy, and blessings by Him. These verses give me hope for the lost in the world in which we live because even though children may be raised in homes where God is not the center, that cycle can be broken. Proverbs 22:6 also tells us to “Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it.” I know that all of us who have children have wondered at times and may continue to wonder if this scripture is true, and I encourage you today to never give up and to keep praying for your children and grandchildren who may be far from God. Janet Bracey, my amazing mother-in-law and BFG Operations Manager, reminds me and my family all the time – “Where there is breath, there is hope.”

I want to close by asking a couple of questions that my Sunday School teacher often poses to our class, “If you knew that today would be your last, how would you live it, and are you comfortable taking your beliefs into eternity?” For me, I would spend my last day with a lot more urgency telling everyone I know and love about salvation – Jesus, God’s one and only, perfect Son, died for my sins and rose again, and all I have to do is in faith believe that His blood washes away my sins past, present, and future, and because of His sacrifice and my faith, I will spend eternity in Heaven with Him. I wish you and your family a Thanksgiving filled with God’s richest blessings. Please know that my team and I pray for you each and every day.

FOOD DRIVE

This year we have again partnered with North Strand Helping Hand to host a food drive during our annual client appreciation event.

If you are interested in helping, we encourage you to bring at least 2 items on November 9th for the food drive. Bins in which you may place your donations will be stationed near the entrance, and staff will be available to assist if needed. Donations may also be dropped off at any of our offices. Please call prior to dropping off to be sure someone is available to receive your donation

All items donated will help local families throughout the holiday season. To learn more about North Strand Helping Hand, visit their website at
